The transfer of the case last Tuesday to the Supreme Court was generally thought to be due to unwillingness to let Recorder Goff try a "star" case. Assistant District Attorney Geborne is said to have urged, since, upon the District Attorney that Justice Williams of the Supreme Court, had held to be irrelevant, before the grand jury, evidence tending to show that Molineux poisoned Henry C. Harnet, and Justice Fursman would feel impelled to follow Justice Williams's ruling. Mr. Osborne is said to believe that the General Sessions will not be guided by this ruling.

The date for beginning the trial remains as set by Justice Fursman, November 14th. The Democratic majorities were about ormal. Senator Platt intimated late to normal. The vote on the Norl amendment, providing for an elective judiciary, is decidedly close and it will require an official edly close, and it will require an official count to demonstrate the result. The opponents of the amendment are confident that they have it defeated
